HENRIETTA WHITEMAN TO DISCUSS
CONTRIBUTIONS OF 'NATIVE AMERICANS'
AT UNIVERSITY OF MONTANA MONDAY

MISSOULA--

Henrietta Whiteman, director of the University of Montana Indian Studies Program, will discuss "Native Americans' Contributions to Today's Society" as keynote speaker during the first session of a summer institute for school personnel at UM Monday (July 23).

The institute, sponsored by the University's Native American Cultural Institute (NACI), will be from July 23-Aug. 10 for 50 school personnel from the seven Indian reservations in Montana.

Whiteman's lecture, which is open to the public without charge, will begin at 9:30 a.m. Monday (July 23) in room 215 of the University Women's Center.

Institute registration will begin at 9 a.m. Monday at the UM Indian Studies Office, 730 Eddy Ave., Missoula.

During the first two weeks of the institute from July 23-Aug. 4 at the University, participants will attend lectures dealing with such topics as Indian government, education, religion, foods, clothing, arts and music.

During the final week of the institute Aug. 6-10, participants will join in cultural activities on four reservations--Flathead, Rocky Boy, Blackfeet and Fort Belknap. Tribal members will address those attending the institute on a variety of topics.

MORE

Robert J. Swan, NACI field coordinator at UM, said his office will accept a total of eight . more applications from school personnel who wish to attend the institute. Two applicants are needed to complete the list of 50 participants and about six new applicants will be needed to replace those who cancel out by Monday (July 23).

Films to be shown during the institute at UM will include "If There Were No Blacks," "Sioux Nation," "Treaties Made: Treaties Broken," "The Exiles," "Cultural Conflict in the Traditional Curriculum," "Lament on the Reservation," "The Forgotten American" and "Tahtonka."

The institute is sponsored under a grant of $89,515 from the Office of Education of the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare. Other programs will be conducted by the University under the grant during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1974.

Swan assisted Rosella J. Covington, NACI project director at UM, in planning the institute.
